

AS THE BELL TOLLS

79-Item Design File Roadmap

Specific documentation updates, file families, dependencies and completion gates

Prepared August 31, 2026

Purpose: convert the prior 79-item competitive audit into an actionable Design Files work plan - what to change, where to put it, what each file must specify, and what should be added when the current documentation has no canonical owner.

Source note

The newly attached Design Files.zip did not remain mounted in the artifact runtime when the archive inventory step executed. This roadmap is therefore grounded in the latest indexed project corpus and the most recent full-project audit context, which identifies 279 actual Design Markdown files with macOS metadata excluded, together with the current 79-item audit. Exact known filenames are named below; repeated folders use mandatory shared templates rather than invented filenames.

1. How to Use This Roadmap

Do not execute the 79 audit items numerically. First make the shared rules and save/data contracts canonical; then expand content against those contracts. Otherwise characters, locations and events will be rewritten multiple times.

For a repeated family such as Characters/* or Locations/Blackmere/*, the family template applies to every current file. Named entries then describe unique additions for high-impact files; they do not exempt unnamed files.

A design update is complete only when another developer can implement it without inventing eligibility, persistence, UI feedback, ownership or edge-case rules.

2. Master Dependency Roadmap

Phase	Outcome	Primary files	Audit
0	Canonical contracts	GDD, GameFlags, Models, Scriptable Objects, Save Data, Event Channels	1-10, 52, 54-59, 69, 72, 75
1	Signature identity	TimeManipulationSystem, RestorationSystem, RepossessionSystem, MainStoryProgression	1-3, 9-10, 32, 39, 42, 75
2	Living social simulation	Characters, Reactive, HappeningSystem, Relationships, Mail, Requests	4-8, 11-20, 44, 68
3	Marriage/family continuity	Marriage candidates, Nursery, MainBedroom, Calendar, Reactive	7, 13-17
4	Activity depth	Farming, Cooking, Tonics, Inventions, Fishing, Weather, Economy, Exploration	25, 27, 29-45
5	Ownership/collection payoff	Manor, civic locations, Hall of Wonder, Ledger, items, decor	19, 21-28, 46, 60, 62, 67
6	Calendar/endgame/replay	Calendar, festivals, visitors, Future Planning, mastery, legacy	9, 34, 41, 45, 47-51, 73, 76-79
7	QoL/platform quality	Inventory, storage, UI, settings, map, save, camera, loading, audio	52-68, 72
8	Multiplayer	Multiplayer, save ownership, restoration, inventory, time, relationships	69-72

Vertical-slice gate

Before rolling across all 279 design Markdown files, prove one connected slice: Central Room, Town Hall, Bell Tower, General Store, School, one residence, one NPC pair, one marriage candidate, one non-romance NPC, one festival, one Blueprint invention, one active-market interaction and a mock Rupert tour. The slice should prove Chimes, restoration consequences, schedule deltas, reactive dialogue, installed inventions, QoL and save persistence together.

Completion gate

The roadmap documentation pass is complete when all 79 recommendations have canonical owners; each repeated family uses one shared schema; each persistent choice has an ID/save owner; every restoration stage has visible and functional consequences; every core NPC has life outside the player; and the GDD accurately describes the same game as the detailed system files.

15. Grounding and Caveat

The roadmap is grounded in the current indexed As The Bell Tolls GDD, prior full-design archive audits, the Chime/Repossession/Restoration expansion work and the 79-item competitive audit. The latest known full-design audit counted 279 actual Design Markdown files, excluding macOS duplicate metadata. The attached Design Files.zip itself was not present at its expected sandbox path when directly inspected during this turn, so this report avoids fabricating unverified filenames and uses folder-wide mandatory templates where the exact current inventory could not be remounted.

When the archive is available to the runtime, the next mechanical pass should be a filename-by-filename compliance check against this roadmap: no design direction needs to change; only the exact file inventory and any existing equivalent owners need to be reconciled.
